IMPORTANT FROM VICKSBERG. The Rebels Sixty Thousand Strong General J. E. by Grant Denied CAIRO, Illinois, Jan. 7 .- We have one day's later intelligence from Vicksburg, which is highly interesting and exciting.

The rebels have concentrated all their forces. from Jackson and Grenada, and along the line of road, amounting to sixty-five thousand men at Vicksburg.

This overwhelming force attacked Sherman on Monday, and compelled him to fall back to his first line of defense. The rebel intrenchments and fortifications extend back from the city six miles. Sherman's force had fought to within two miles of the city, when he was attacked by the superior forces of rebels. The fighting on Sunday is represented as desperate in the extreme. The batteries and fortifications were taken and retaken. Whole regiment, and even brigades, fought hand to hand over guns, and for the possession of the defeuses.

The 4th Iowa Regiment lost six hundred men in killed, wounded and missing. Gen. Hovey, with 1,500 men, was sent out to execute a special order, but since then has not been heard from. Fears are entertained for his safety. Nothing yet has been heard from the Federal forces below, nor can we learn that our gunboats have taken any part in the action. It is reported that Rebel steamers are crossing from the Louisiana shore to Vicksburg, sup-

pered to be carrying reinforcements to the Rebels. The last accounts stated that the Rebel Gen. Holmes was marching in the direction of Vickeburg, and it is not improbable he has arrived

Gen. M. L. Smith was wounded in the breast, There was some fichting Tuesday morning, after Sherman had fallen back, but it is thought he can maintain his position. The report that Sherman was reinforced by Grant is incorrect.

It is reported that Gen. Gorman is evacuating Helena, Ark, with the intention of occupying Napoleon. Sherman's less is estimated at from 4,000 to 5.000.

Gen. Jos. F. Johnston commands the Robel forces at Vicksburg. New York, Jan. 7 .- A special telegram to Jan. 7, says: The battle is still raging at Vicksburg with no decisive results. Our forces took the main battery and rifle pits of the enemy on Monday, but were afterwards repulsed and lost their ground. Five cannon were taken, spiked and again lost. Gen. Morgan and Col. J. B. Wyman were killed, and Col. Morgan L. Smith and Capt. Gwynn were wounded, but not mortally. Both armies rested on Monday night, after the hard fight of the day.

Our troops were still confident of victory. Price and Van Dorn command the rebels. It was rumored that Gen. Sherman was being largely reinforced by the arrival of Gen. Grant's cavalry. The gunboats are not doing much.

Our army is well posted and protected in the flank and rear, and will not yield the contest until Vick-burg is in their possession. Our loss in killed and wounded, so far, is estimated at 3,000. FROM GEN. ROSECRANS' ARMY. The Retreating Rebels Greatly Demoralized-Rear Guard Attacked by Gen. Stanley-Their Loss in Officers Heavy-Bragg is Going to Chattanooga. CINCINNATI, Jan. 7 .- A special telegram to the Commercial, dated Murireesboro, January 6, gives additional confirmation of the demoralization of the rebel army. Breckinridge's dfvision was terribly punished on Friday. Breckinridge was wounded in the ear. His adjutant general was killed.

Wounded rebel officers estimate their loss at twelve thousand to fifteen thousand. There was great slaughter of leading officers. Colonel Mulligan, of Tennessee, was mortally wounded and is in hospital here. The body of General Hanson was sent south to-day. General Rains's body has been sent to Nash. ville. The enemy's rear gnard was encountered at 10 o'clock on Sunday night by Stanley's cavalry, retreating, and attacked, with a loss of thirty. A negro from Bragg's beadquarters, who left the rebel army within five miles of Manchester, says that he heard Bragg would go to

Bragg. HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY OF THE PO. TOMAC, Jan. 7 .- News from the rebel side relative to the fight at Murfreesboro is to the effect that they have taken four thousand prisoners and twenty-six guns. Jeff. Davis has returned to Richmond, where he delivered a bitter and violent speech against the Federal Government and its officers, denouncing it as guilty of the most enormous

Although the rebel force on our front has been greatly reduced, and the army of Port Royal entirely withdrawn from the river, it is not belived that any have been sent to reinforce Bragg from this point, but that they have merely fallen back upon the line of railroad for greater facility in procuring supplies. The atmosphere is much colder to-day, indicating the approach of cold weather. No movement of importance has taken place for several days. All is quiet to-night.

THE EXPEDITION INTO EAST TEN-NESSEE.

Its Safe Return to Kentucky. CINCINNATI, Jan. 7 .- Gen Carter's expedition reached Manchester, Kentucky, yesterday, on their return from East Tennessee. They left London, Kentucky, on the 21st ultimo, and comprised a thousand cavalrymen. The resuits of the expedition are the destruction of two important bridges; five bundred and fifty large amount of flour, salt, and other rebel stores were haptured; also, a locomotive and two cars were destroyed. A brick skirmish took place at Wantanga bridge, and another at Jonesville. This raid was one of the most hazardous of the war, and artended with great hardships and privations.

FROM FORTRESS MONROE. Resene of the Boat's Crew of the Steamer Rhode Island-Nothing Heard of the Re-

We lost only ten men.

FORTRESS MONROE, Jan. 5 .- The U.S. frigate Minnesota arrived here last evening at 6 o'clock. The wrecking vessel Relief, Capt. Rockwell, prrived here this morning, and the captain reports that the boat sent out by the steamer Rhode Island to rescue the crew of the Monitor was picked up on the 3d inst., on Hatterss Shoals by a coasting schooner, bound to Fernandina, Florida.

The school r got aground while picking up the boat, and the officer and seven men belonging to the Rhode Island were subsequently taken from the schooner by a government tug boat, and carried into Hatteras Inlet-all safe. Nothing has been heard from the rest of the Meni'or's crew, and they may doubtless be conside red as lost Capt. Rockwell reports that the iron-clad steamer Montank passed Hatteras Shouls on

From correspondence of the New York Herold we glean the following interesting details of the siege of Vicksburg: On the morning of December 22, a grand conneil was held between the army and naval officers, and details of the movement were agreed upon. On the way the Tribune, dated Helena, Jan. 2, via Cairo, down the soldiers on the shore committed many acts of vandalism: wantonly burned the town of Gainesville Landing, and destroyed plants. tions, among them one belonging to an outspoken Union man. They also destroyed a large quantity of corded wood. This wood was needed by the transports, and because of its destruction they will now be compelled to send all hands ashore and chop their wood as they need it. The sailors, however, were not permitted to go on shore, and therefore were prevented from committing such disgraceful At Milliken's Bend the rebels were cut off from supplies from Arkansas, The Herald correspondent, under date of December 26.

From Milliken's Bend back to the Shreve. port and Vicksburg Railroad is about twenty miles. Any reinforcements for Vicksburg from Arkansas would come over this road, and as it was likely that the rebel army in Arkansas would be sent to Vicksburg as soon as it was known that the bulk of the Union force had been withdrawn from Helena, it was deemed prudent to make thorough work of the destruction of this railroad. It was to accomplish this purpose that the force debarked at Milliken's Bend. From that point, by marching twenty miles inland, they will strike the railroad about twenty-five or thirty miles from Vicksburg. Their orders are to tear up the track, blow up the culverts, burn the bridges, destroy the water stations, and generally make such a complete wreck of the road that it eannot be speedily repaired. A similar expedition left from opposite the mouth of the Yazoo, on a like errand, last night. They struck the railroad some ten or twelve miles from Vicksburg, and completely destroyed it for the distance of a mile or more, burning one quite large bridge. This expedition returned in safety this morning. While ascending the Yazoo river our boats encountered numbers of rebel guerillas and sharpshooters, who annoyed our men very

On December 27th the fleet was ordered to move up the river and attack the rebel battery at Hains' Bluff, with a view of attracting attention from the army movements in the rear. The morning and much of the afternoon were consumed in feeling the way up the stream, to avoid torpedoes. Five of the submarine infernals were found and removed without accident. The iron-clads then got under weigh again and moved up to the bend in the river facing the rebel position, and about half a mile distant, and opened the engagement at four o'clock p. m. precisely. The Benton had the lead, and secured a good position directly in the bend. The Baron De Kalb, Cincinnati and Louisville got into position under the stern of the Benton, firing meantime across the point. All the boats improved every fire upon the enemy, making a very brick cannonading and doing fine execution. The Lexington also made fast to the south bank and made herself useful. To all this cannonading the enemy kept up a vigorous response, revealing seven guns, all located in separate batteries upon the bluffs and in its face, no two guns being within three hundred yards of each other.

Their firing showed three very heavy rifled guns and others of lighter calibre. The engagement lasted an hour and a quarter. The Benton lay in a very exposed position, and the enemy's missiles fell about her like hail. She was struck twenty-five times, twelve chets passing through her decks, ports and upper works, doing considerable execution. None o clock and 20 minutes.

We have no means of knowing what damage. we inflicted upon the enemy, but are confident of injuring them quite as seriously as they did us. Our guns were admirably aimed, and our shot could be seen falling very thickly all about the rebel batterles, throwing up the saud in
